NEWPORT,

BY CRANSTON & NORMAN

144 THAMES STREET.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, OCT. 31, 1855.

AMERICAN SURGEONS IN THE RUSSIAN ARMY.—We have been permitted to see a portion of a letter from Dr. J. B. Stoddard, Jr., of this city, in which he states that there are eight American surgeons attached to the Russian army in the Crimea—Drs. Eldridge, Jones, Johnstone, and himself from Maryland; Drs. Reid and Denninger, of Pennsylvania; Dr. Holt, of South Carolina; and Dr. Smith from Louisiana.—He states that they are treated with great consideration by the officers of the Russian army. He states further that he witnessed the assault on Sevastopol, which resulted in the taking of the Southern portion and the retreat of two hundred thousand Russians across the bridge, to the Northern side, which, from what he states, attended as it was by the conflagration of Sevastopol, the explosion of mines, hurrying thousands into eternity, and the sinking of the navy, was a scene too fearfully tragic to be depicted in language.—Baltimore Patriot.

—The editor of the Eddyville, Iowa, Free Press boasts that a ludy of that place, under twenty-one years of age, has been the mother of seven children.

—Col. Seaton, of the National Intelligencer, who is on a visit to England, is, according to the following extract from a London letter of the 21st ult., pleasantly and practically illustrating the advantages of a sound constitution:—

“Colonel Seaton, of Washington, is here, and though over seventy, is running about London with the zeal and activity of a young man of twenty. He went to the country house of a Yankee nabob near London lately, and bagged a dozen brace of partridges in a few hours. A man must have stout legs, as well as editorial experience, to go through such exercises at seventy-two.”

STRAWBERRIES IN WINTER.—In the midst of a violent snow storm we were this morning presented by T. A. Newton, with a dish of large and luscious strawberries, just picked from the vines in the open air, on the premises of John Rockwell, of Penfield. They are in all respects as good as any produced during the ordinary strawberry season. Mr. Newton says Mr. R. will have more the same vines as soon as the snow melts off! Is there any parallel to this in the United States? We doubt it.—Rochester Union, 26th.

THE YELLOW FEVER.—The New Orleans Delta says that the new discovery of inoculation as a protection against yellow fever, has been tried in three thousand cases in that city, this season, with entire success. The editor of the New Orleans Medical and Surgical Journal says that, after the most searching investigation there appears to be an entire unanimity of opinion, both among the contagionists and non-contagionists, that the yellow fever of the present year originated in New Orleans, and that all the earlier as well as the latter cases occurred among persons who had not been in any manner exposed to the fever in foreign ports, or to import contagion.

A fellow from the north named Albert C. Day, was found amalgamating with a colored woman at Montgomery, Ala., and, by order of Judge Lynch, was made to kiss his sooty companion in “open court,” was ridden on a knotty piece of timber through the principal streets, made to jump several times into the artesian reservoir of rather dirty water, and then ordered to decamp in person of two hundred stripes. It seems Day had written abolition letters to New York paper, and also letters to an obscene sheet in Boston. E. J. Chase, also from the north, was indicted in Judge Lynch’s court for offences similar to Day’s, but could not be found.

THE YELLOW FEVER.—Late accounts from Norfolk state that occasional new cases of yellow fever continue to break out among the returned refugees. The Howard Society cautions absenteers not to return before the occurrence of a heavy frost.

The case of George Hitchcock’s resig- nation was the recall, by the Secretary of War, of the leave of six months’ absence by Gen. Scott. This case of disagreement between the head of the War Department and the Commanding General of the Army will doubtless come up in Congress, and will give occasion for a review of the laws which regulate the authority of each.

A NEW EXPLANATION OF THE DELUGE.—A scientific correspondent of a London journal, in alluding to the days of Noah says, that what is known as “the Flood,” is probably that the poles of the earth were changed and a sudden dissolution of the polar seas ensued, which deluged the equatorial parts of the earth, and overwhelmed the human race.

INTERESTING FROM UTAH.—A letter to the Chicago Tribune, from Fillmore city, Utah, says that there is not a single live of boar to be found in the Territory, nor are there any buffaloes west of the Rocky Mountains. The writer tells us that the institution of negro slavery exists in the Territory, as also that of Indian slavery. Quite a number of Southern men are there who took their slaves with them. The Indians sell each other into perpetual bondage, and into good, native, and obedient servants. He also tells us that though the prevailing religion is that of the Latter Day Saints, an occasional sermon is delivered by persons of other persuasions. He estimates the population at from sixty to one hundred thousand persons; which, if true, would entitle the Territory to admission into the Union as a State. These people, he says, are mostly active and industrious; in fact, the most industrious community he ever saw. They are strongly devoted to their religious faith, and many of them are persons of excellent character, though too many others are barely corrupt. Of Governor Young, he remarks that he performs more bodily labor than any other man in the Territory.

Mills and factories are in operation in all parts of the territory where settlements exist, as are also common schools. The capitol building, in process of erection at Fillmore city, is superb in design. One wing is nearly completed, and will be in readiness the second Monday in December, at which time the Legislature meets. It is built of a superior quality of stone, of a reddish hue. Salt Lake city contains 15,000 inhabitants, and has fine stone hotels, school-houses, &c. A large majority of the people are of foreign birth, mostly English. The city next in importance is Provo, a beautiful place, containing factories, mills, &c., and about three thousand inhabitants.

The letter from which we take these statements is signed W. W. Drummond, who appears to be one of the United States officials. It concludes with the following:—

“An apparently miraculous crop of sugar is being made from the honey-dew which falls on the leaves of the cotton wood exclusively. It is made by soaking the leaves in water, and then after taking out the leaves, pursuing the same course which is taken in the manufacture of the ordinary maple sugar. A sample of this sugar, I send by this mail to our esteemed Senator, Hon. S. A. Douglas.”

THE PUBLIC LANDS.—It is stated as a fact that the public lands of the United States are rapidly running out. The Washington correspondent of the New York Courier says:—

We have nominally 1,400,000 square miles, that in some eight or ten hundred millions of acres; but perhaps five-sixths of the entire quantity is uninhabitable and valueless. Already the government is unable to supply lands in Minnesota to actual settlers at the maximum price of $1.25 per acre. We sold and gave away in 1853—’54, 23,000,000 acres. We sold at a nominal sum during the past year 15,000,000 acres, and gave away to States and individuals property enough to make good the enormous quantity of 30,000,000 acres. At this rate how long will our two or three hundred millions of available public lands supply the demand for the purpose of settlement, to say nothing of the exigencies of the Treasury in time of war or of financial distress. In Minnesota, which has 55,000 inhabitants, the lands to be offered this season have been reduced from four to one million of acres. The lands cannot be surveyed as fast as Congress gives them away. This is said to be the cause of the reduction of the quantity in Minnesota. In Utah, already settled by some 30,000 Mormons, the base line has just been established, and perhaps years must elapse before the government, so wholly absorbed is it in the work of gratuity, can furnish a legal title to the lands occupied by its citizens.

—The last night of the Irish Parliament, a dark, dwarfish figure might have been seen clinging close to one of the great pillars of the portico. There was a dense crowd in all the streets and thoroughfares to the building. An English regiment was under arms within the portico. As the Peers and Commons were moving out and the lights were being extinguished in the great hall where the abdication of the national sovereignty had taken place, that small dark figure looked out wildly and glaringly on the scene. One of the United Irishmen, coming up, whispered; “Curran! what are you doing here to night?” The figure sprang forward; the cloak, in which it had been muffled, fell off; a face luminous with a sublime agony appeared; and Curran—for it was Curran—put this question to the rebel; “Where are now your three hundred thousand armed men?”

—A correspondent of the National Intelligencer says the tent should now be cleared by other than mechanical means. Any chemical agent that will act upon and destroy the enamel of the teeth also. Hence, although the teeth may be made to look very white in a few minutes by the use of the acid they soon become darker than ever, to be whitened no more, and early decay, and pain is sure to follow. In cleaning the teeth by mechanical means, caution is to be observed that they be not broken or scratched, and that the tartar be perfectly removed.

—“What shall I help you to?” inquired the daughter of a landlady, to a modest youth at the dinner table. “A wife,” was the mock reply. The young lady blushed, perhaps indignantly, and it is said that the kindly office of a neighboring clergyman were requisite to reconcile the parties.

—In an article in the Dublin Universal Magazine it is stated that the present war with Russia cost England and her allies a quarter of a million sterling per day.

A match game of billiards for $3,000 is to be played in New Orleans soon, between two Creole ladies of the “first respectability.” These women are said to have few equals at the game, even among gentlemen, in the United States.

GENTLE HINTS TO THE Gentle Sex.—In the course of an able lecture on the Diseases of Women, recently delivered by Dr. Bedford, of New York, he gave these significant hints:—

“The lady who revels in luxury, and has around her, even to satiety, all the comforts and pleasures which opulence can secure, would gladly surrender all these comforts to regain the health which it too often happens, she has sacrificed by her own folly and imprudence. She once possessed good constitution; she became careless; entered into all the dissipations of society. Infatuated and bewildered by the constant excitement of fashionable life—a devotee to pleasure, she is heedless of the first manifestations of disease; but the disease, like the silent night, progresses—it brings with it physical infirmity and moral anguish—her strength is declining—her mind weakened, and compelled by absolute suffering to withdraw from society, she finally invokes the aid of a physician. He investigates her case with great care, and finds that her disease is without remedy. She may, peradventure, be laboring under some organic affection, which if seen to in time would have been perfectly manageable. Her days are numbered—and instead of being the attraction and idol of the gay crowd she now becomes the victim of the most distressing bodily sufferings—suffering so agonizing that she is impatient to die—and, when her last hour is come, she breathes a prayer of thankfulness to heaven that her sufferings are at an end. There is, gentlemen, no fiction here; I am not presenting you an exaggerated picture—it is true in fact and detail. I have been compelled on more than one occasion to say when my opinion was requested:—‘Madam, I can do nothing for you; your disease has made fearful progress—it is beyond the reach of science.’ Those words fall on the ear of the afflicted patient with chilling and disastrous effect; they bring to her mind the vivid truth; the painful reminiscences of her own indiscretion which is about to consign her to an early grave and make desolate the hearts of those to whom she was united by ties of the closest affection.”

—“I have frequently used it with the most decided marked results upon my horses. I use it in all cases of cuts, wounds, and bruises, and in internal pains and distress, and it never fails to give immediate relief, or to effect a cure.

It will heal wounds, cuts or sores, upon man or animals, sooner than any other preparation I have ever used.

To horse owners, stable keepers, and others. Dyer’s Healing Emulsion has proved to be one of the best remedies for lameness, caused by strains, bruises, sprains or other accidental causes, as well as for wounds, galls or other injuries that are frequently occurring to horses and other animals. It is also the cheapest preparation that can be used. A stable keeper in Providence says:—

“I have frequently used it with the most decided marked results upon my horses. I use it in all cases of cuts, wounds, and bruises, and in internal pains and distress, and it never fails to give immediate relief, or to effect a cure.

It will heal wounds, cuts or sores, upon man or animals, sooner than any other preparation I have ever used.

ORSON MOFFIT. Prepared only by P. M. Field, 84 Westminster street. For sale by Hazard & Caswell and R. J. Taylor, Newport, R. I.

From the Home Journal, New York.

“No article ever acquired so rapid celebrity and universal popularity as Lyon’s Katharina. To those who have used it,—and who has not?—The reason is obvious, as it not only beautifies the Hair, but preserves and restores it at an advanced age of life. Its perfume and agreeable invigorating effects should stamp it an indispensable article of the toilet.” The above is but one of thousands of similar commendations—it stands unrivaled in its unparalleled popularity has caused several unprincipled persons to put up valueless imitations, which they call by somewhat similar names. Sold everywhere, in large bottles, for only 25 cents.

MARRIED.

At Oswego, on Saturday, the 27th inst., by the Rev. Mr. Gallagher, F. W. Botchkins, of New York, & Ann P. Canfield, daughter of Major G. W. Patton, U. S. A.

DEAD.

In this city, at the Aquidneck House, on Monday evening, of Scarlet Fever, William J. Marvin, only son of James M. Marvin, Esq., Proprietor of the U. S. Hotel, Saratoga Springs, aged 9 years.

Mr. Marvin came to this city, with his wife and son, on their first visit, about three weeks ago; the child was an invalid, having suffered from lameness in the hip for some months past. The devoted and affectionate parents were enjoying themselves very much in riding about the city and its environs, when the little fellow was taken sick, a few days after their arrival, with the terrible disease which has proved fatal. He received the most assiduous attention from his Physician, Dr. King, and also from Mr. Rider and his family, of the Aquidneck; and until within the last two days, strong hopes were entertained of his recovery. He was a noble boy; possessing all the gentleness of a child, he had all the intellect of a man. He was the pride and hope of his parents; and the blow which they have sustained in his death is terrible indeed;—but they have the consolation of knowing that, in the innocence and purity of youth, he has passed away from the trials and temptations of a sinful world, to the bosom of the Father of all, where there is no pain, no sorrow, no death,—but joy, perfection and eternal life.

In this city, 30th, Mr. William H. Gorton, aged 49 years.

Funeral to-morrow afternoon, at 2 o’clock, from his late residence 124 Spring street, which relatives and friends are invited to attend without further notice.

PROFESSOR WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE

Is, no doubt, the most wonderful discovery of this age of progress. The following is from a distinguished member of the medical profession:

St. Paul, January 1, 1855.

Prof. O. J. Wood.—Dear Sir—Unsolicited, I send you this certificate. After being nearly bald for a long time, and having tried all the hair restoratives extant, and having no faith in any, I was induced on hearing of yours, to give it a trial. I placed myself in the hands of a barber, and had my head well rubbed with a good stiff brush, and the restorative then applied and well rubbed in, till the scalp was all a glow. This I repeated every morning, and in three weeks the young hair appeared, and grew rapidly from August last up to the present time, and is now thick, black, and strong—so fresh and pliant to the touch, whereas before it was harsh and wiry, what little there was of it had that it was disappearing rapidly. I still use your restorative about twice a week, and shall soon have a good and perfect crop of hair. Now I have read of these things—and who has not—but have never seen hitherto, any case in which any person's hair was really benefited by any of the hair tonics, &c., of the day; and it really gives me pleasure to record the result of my experience. I have recommended your preparation to others, and already has a large and general sale throughout the Territory. The people here saw its effects, and have confidence in it. All who have used it here, will coincide with me in what I have written. The supply you sent us, at the wholesale agents for the Territory, is already exhausted, and daily inquiries are made for it. You deserve credit for your discovery. For one return you thank for the benefit it has done me, for I certainly had despaired long ago, of ever effecting such result. I congratulate you that your fortune (and a large one) is already made.

Yours, hastily, J. W. BOND,

Prof. W.—Dear Sir—Having made a trial of your Hair Restorative, it gives me pleasure to say that its effect has been excellent in removing inflammation, dandruff, and a constant itching with which I have been troubled from childhood, and has also restored hair which was becoming gray, to its original color. I have used no other article with anything like the pleasure and profit.

Yours truly,
